

PRAISES! AND PRAYER REQUESTS

VOL 8, ISSUE 18
MAY 15, 2012

Greg Getz, PLI Coordinator greggetz@mcusa.org

Praise! Asher, my preemie grandson, was released to go home on Mother's Day. Thanks for praying!

Joe Himes, PLI Graduate and eProf candyjoe@verizon.net

The cataract surgery itself went well, but afterwards a nurse unknowingly caused my wheelchair to roll over my air hose. With no air I had to make "splat" sounds to alert them that I couldn't breathe. After 30 seconds or so they figured it out. Whew! My eyesight is still blurry, but hopefully all will clear up when the swelling goes down. Keep praying please.

Joe Martin, former PLI eProf jnsmartin@gmail.com

Please continue to pray for our paralyzed grandson, Reid.

Pat Warren, PLI Prayer Partner patwarren@mcusa.org

Please continue to pray for God's miraculous healing and all-sufficient grace as I fight this battle with cancer.

Tim Bohm, PLI Graduate timsupdate@gmail.com

At this point the doctors can't do much to make me feel better, they're just trying to keep my water weight, electrolytes, and other vitals in balance as I wait for a new heart. Please continue to pray that my other organs miraculously stay strong and healthy (they're stressed to the max with all the drugs and procedures). Thanks!

Jared Baker, former PLI Student, jaredb@lincolnyfc.org

Though club meetings at school wrap up today, please pray for (1) lots of opportunities to connect with kids over the summer; (2) a great response as we share the gospel and God's love with students during our Memorial Day trip to Minnesota; (3) successful ministry fundraising; (4) increased community support for Campus Life ministry; and (5) more adult volunteers so ministry can grow. Thanks!

Just a Thought

Sometimes I think I'm doing pretty good in the maturing process ... and then I read Jesus' words in Luke 6 (verses 20 and following) and realize how far I have to grow. My life is so easy, and still I complain. I am so blessed, and yet not necessarily content. I am quick to defend my rights (it's the American way!) and often judge others when I have no idea what issues they're facing. I think I give generously until I realize how much I've held back. Sure I love my family (which sometimes requires a LOT of grace) and friends, but what about those who mistreat me or disrespect me? Am I kind to the ungrateful and wicked? God is. And He expects me to follow His example.

Yes, I've got a long way to go.

— Diana Boyer, PLI Administrator dianaboyer@mcusa.org

VERSE OF THE WEEK

*“And if you do good to those who
are good to you,
what credit is that
to you?
Even ‘sinners’
do that.”*

Luke 6:33
New International Version

NOTE:

Because of the sensitive nature of some things shared in chats, praises and requests from chat archives will NOT be included in this weekly update unless you email them directly to Diana.

